CPSU/SPSF INDUSTRIAL TRAINING WORKPLACE REPRESENTATIVES COURSE

VENUE: CPSU (Rosella Building, Level 2) – 6 Palmer Parade Cremorne 3121

Workplace representative training is available to delegates, workplace representatives, contacts and members who desire skills and knowledge for the role of workplace representative.

Covered in the course are subjects dealing with union history, the structure of CPSU, workers rights, the role of delegates, current industrial reforms as well as workplace agreements specific to a participant's working environment. The course also provides information to assist delegates for organising in their workplace, identifying and dealing with issues including negotiating and meeting with management and seeking resolution of workplace issues.

The course does not try to make participants into Union Industrial Organisers but does put pieces together so participants feel confident in dealing with some issues in the workplace. It provides practicable help with useful reference material as well as providing knowledge of whom and where they can go to gain assistance.

Courses are scheduled as below to be run at CPSU's Richmond office however courses have and will continue to be scheduled in regional or business specific locations as required.
